A Kansas City firm is selling a preparation that makes it possible to add 100 per cent of water to butter and still make such good butter that only experts can tell that it is watered stock. A pound of real butter, a pound of ordinary water and ten drops of this emulsion churned together make two pounds of butter. The emulsion appears something like glue. It is sticky and rather thick but transparent. It is harmless and has no deleterious effect, so far as has been discovered by the chemical experts of the health board, except to add to the weight of the butter. Four ounces of the emulsion is worth 20 to 35 cents. A pound of water purchased from a distilling plant might cost two mills. The house wife who has all sorts of trouble making her allowances go a week, could invest a half dollar in a crockery churn, put in her pound of butter, a pound of water and ten drops of this emulsion and produce 70 cents worth of butter. Any woman with the churn and the emulsion can cut her butter bills in two. Anyone who knows how to work a churn can do this.

Zelaya Gets Away.

Former President Zelaya, of Nicaragua, fleeing from the wrath of the United States, has found an asylum in a Mexican gunboat General Guerrero, which he boarded at Corinto at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon. The Mexican Government denies any knowledge of Zelaya's destination or plans for the future.

"White Christmas."

Saturday was an old-fashioned "white Christmas" throughout the larger portion of the United States. The day was observed almost universally. In New York, Chicago and other big centers of population millions were distributed in charitable deeds.

Bourbon Circuit Court.

Special Judge Samuel Holmes, of Carlisle, and Special Judge C. C. Bagby, of Richmond, will both be here tomorrow to hear motions in the Circuit Court that were pending before them before leaving last week. Judge Holmes passed sentences upon the following prisoners:

W. H. Lucas for the murder of William Sagaser, three years in the penitentiary and upon motion of counsel for the defendant the sentence was suspended pending an appeal to the Court of Appeals.

William Leer, colored, was sentenced for a term of ten years in the penitentiary for forgery, at the expiration of which term, an additional sentence for ten years for robbery is to begin.

Davis Washington, a negro boy, was given one year in the reform school upon the recommendation of the trial jury.

Hugh Rogers, colored, residing in Cincinnati, was sentenced to three years in the penitentiary for robbing the store of J. C. Gatewood.

M. J. Dumphrey, 3 years, for malicious cutting.

Joe Baker, colored, was sentenced to five months in the county jail for involuntary manslaughter.

The Effect of It.

The good roads amendment of the Constitution does not give one county the right to put a tax on another, nor does it impose a tax on the people of any county for roads unless they want to be taxed. It simply gives any county the right to vote for the issue of bonds, or for other means to secure funds to maintain and improve the turnpikes and the public roads.

Bank Guaranty Law Unconstitutional.

Judge John M. Pollock, in the United States District Court at Topeka, Kas., in a decision declared the Kansas bank guaranty law to be invalid.

Judge Pollock granted two injunctions in ruling out the law. One case was that of Frank S. Larabee, a stockholder in the Exchange State Bank of Hutchinson, against the officers and directors of the bank and J. N. Dolley, State Bank Commissioner. His contention was that a stockholder in a State bank can object and prevent the participation of his bank in the guaranty law. Judge Pollock upheld this argument in every particular.

The other case was that of the Abilene National Bank against the Bank Commissioner and State Treasurer on the ground that the State guaranty law is unconstitutional. Judge Pollock granted a temporary injunction in this case, holding the law inoperative and fixed a bond of $50,000 to be given by the bank pending the final disposition of the case.

Man comes into the world without his consent and leaves it against his will. During his stay on earth his time is spent in one continuous round of contraries and misunderstandings by the balance of our species. In his infancy he is an angel; in his boyhood he is a devil; in his manhood he is everything from a lizard up; if he raises a small check he is a thief; if he is a poor man he is a bad manager and has no sense; if he is rich he is dishonest but considered smart; if he is in politics he is a grafter and a crook; if he is out of politics you can't place him, as he is an undesirable citizen; if he goes to church he is a hypocrite; if he stays away from church, he is a sinner and is damned; if he donates to foreign missions, he does it for show; if he doesn't he is stingy and a tightwad! When he first comes into the world everybody wants to kiss him; before he goes out they all want to kick him. If he dies young there was a great future before him; if he lives to a ripe old age, he is simply in the way and living to save funeral expenses.

New Barber Shop.

Russ Corbin, the well-known colored barber, has leased a room in the Paton building, opposite the Fordham Hotel, and will open a first-class barber shop. The new shop will be open for business Thursday, Dec. 23. Two new chairs have been installed and Corbin will have a competent assistant to help take care of the trade. The public is invited to visit this new tonorial parlor and courteous treatment and prompt service is assured. 21-1f

Democrat's Opportunity.

The tariff question is not settled, and, like all moral questions, will not be until it is settled right. Discussing the matter, Harper's weekly says that the Republican party has not succeeded in making off with the issue, as Cleveland feared, and it is open to the Democrats to repossess themselves of the most valuable piece of property they ever had. The way is plain. President Woodrow Wilson in a recent speech at Plainfield, N. J., pointed it out clearly enough. The old slogan of tariff reform never had more potency than it would have today if the party would take it up with the old heartiness. With that war cry, and led by such men as President Wilson himself and Governor Harmon, and the still surviving associates of Governor Russell, in Massachusetts, it could again march toward light and victory instead of stumbling on in darkness to defeat. That change of policy and leadership once effected, our party system would be restored to its proper working, for we should have two live, competent parties instead of one party and a rabble. It is the plain duty of every Democrat who loves his party and his country to go to work to bring about that consummation.

"Commission System" Failure.

West Virginia cities, like Colorado Springs, Grand Junction and several other Western cities, are finding the "commission" system of municipal government a failure. A press dispatch says:

"It is said that the new method of municipal government known as the 'Commissioner' system, has already become quite distasteful to the cities of Charleston and Bluefield, West Virginia, where they became infatuated with the new idea and were unwilling to rest until they gave it a trial. It was only last winter that new charters for these cities were enacted by the Legislature and in less than eight months the people became disgusted with it and now want to get it off their hands. Huntington, the first city in the State to adopt the new idea has been trying to make something out of it since last spring, but there is now no doubt but what they would like very much to return to the old system. It is claimed for the new system alleged to be non-partisan, that there is no one party who can be held responsible for the numerous mistakes that never fail to occur in the course of municipal affairs, hence there is no incentive to strive for any improvement the whole matter being left to the political manipulators of either party to get the officers for what there is in the salaries and otherwise.

"Under the old plan, where the political parties were fighting each other for control, the successful party was aware that the public would prefer them to come only so dirty when they would be kicked out and the other fellows given a chance. Hence it would seem reasonable to suppose that either party would try to do about as well as they could in order that they might be perpetuated in control.

"The indications are said to be that there will be no municipal government in the neighboring state by 'commission' when the next regular session of the State Legislature shall have taken a turn at the affairs."

OFTEN THE CASE.

He told a hard-luck tale
To everyone who'd listen;
His voice would tremble so,
His eyes with tears would glisten.
He said: "I'm tricked by fate."
The neighbors wondered: "Is he?"
Because his little wife
Most of the time was busy
And fed and clothed him, too,
And gave the children schooling.
The sweet domestic realm
With kindly patience ruling.
How oft we see a woman,
An angel most, who's willing
To spend her life in toil for
A man who's not worth killing!

An Indigestion
Remedy Free

Many people who are otherwise healthy suffer from indigestion, or dyspepsia. When you consider that the stomach and allied digestive organs are the most important organs of the body, it would seem that a disorder there is to be taken very seriously.

Dyspeptics cannot eat the things they like; food sours in the stomach; then chronic constipation begins, or, as is often the case, you have been constipated all along, and the stools are forced and irregular.
But there is no use letting indigestion go until it becomes chronic and undermines your health. It is good advice to suggest to you that you go to your druggist and get a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, the wonderful cure for stomach, liver and bowel troubles. That is what C. Fowler, of Carson City, Mich., did and he is well today. Others who did the same and are cured are Ida A. Fortune, of Grand Junction, Tenn.; E. F. Thompson, of Shenandoah, Ia., who actually considers that it saved his life. You can obtain a 50-cent or $1 bottle of the druggist, and, taken according to directions, it will probably be all you need. It is a liquid, acts gently, never gripes, and besides the laxative effect, contains exceptional tonic properties which tone the stomach, and that is what is especially needed in indigestion.
All sufferers from indigestion who have never used Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can obtain a free test bottle by writing the doctor. It will be sent direct to your home without any charge. In this way thousands have proven to their own satisfaction Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the very remedy they needed to cure indigestion. When once you use this grand remedy you will throw violent cathartics, tablets, salts, etc., away.

If there is anything about your ailment that you don't understand, or if you want any medical advice, write to the doctor, and he will answer you fully. There is no charge for this service. The address is Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 500 Caldwell Bldg., Monticello, Ill.

Council Proceedings.

The Paris City Council at its regular meeting Thursday night granted a franchise to the Cynthiana & Paris Railway Company, void, however, if the work of construction is not begun within a period of two years, and if the sale or disposition of the said franchise is made to other parties.

The matter was presented before the Council by Mr. Robert C. Talbott, of Talbott & Whitley, who assured the Council that he had looked fully into the matter and that the promoter of the enterprise, a Mr. Fuller, of New York, who had constructed and was the owner of as many as five different interurban railroad systems in different parts of the country and was in earnest about the building of the road, and that Paris and Cynthiana would within a few years be connected by an electric road that would connect here with a road for Lexington and would be another link in a great network of interurban roads for the Bluegrass section of Kentucky.

The Council met at 7:30 p. m., with Mayor O'Brien in the chair, and Councilmen Baldwin, Dempsey, Link, Taylor, Wilmoth, Wilson and Wolstein present. It being the last meeting of the Council before the induction into office on January 1 of Mayor-elect John T. Hinton, a large amount of business was transacted.

Police Judge E. T. Hinton filed his report for the month of November, as follows: Total amount of fines assessed $187.50, of which amount $10 was reprieved, $52.50 suspended, $33.50 collected and the remainder worked out.

City Assessor C. D. Webb addressed the Council regarding several clerical errors in the assessment in which J. Hal Woodford was entitled to a rebate of $14.52 collected for taxes and Miss Mary Woodford $51.10.

City Attorney William Grannon rendered an opinion in the matter of the Bourbon Board of Control of the Burley Tobacco Society who had asked if the pooled tobacco in the county, aggregating more than three million pounds, would be exempt from taxation if brought into the city of Paris for the purpose of handling and pricing. Mr. Grannon said that there was no clause in the law that gave the Council the right to exempt from taxation any property other than that of some new manufacturing enterprise.

J. W. Maston was granted permission to erect a one-story cottage on High street extension.

Police Judge E. B. January, who will take the oath of office Jan. 1, filed his bond, with J. H. Hagyard and Clifton Arnsperger as sureties.

An appropriation of $200 was made and allowed the voluntary members of the Paris Fire Department.

Under the franchise granted the Cynthiana and Paris railway the road will enter Paris on Second street, thence out Houston avenue to Seventh, and connecting with the Blue Grass Traction Company at Seventh and High streets, and may use the latter's tracks to terminal quarters at Fifth street.

Trouble Makers Ousted.

When a sufferer from stomach trouble takes Dr. King's New Life Pills he's mighty glad to see his dyspepsia and indigestion fly, but more—he's tickled to death over his new, fine appetite, strong nerves healthy vigors all because stomach, liver and kidneys now work right. 5 cents at Oberdorfer's.

DON'T STUDY NATIONAL AIRS

American Visitor in Great Britain Returns with His Feelings Perturbed.

"I wish," growled a man lately back from a tour of the British Isles, "that the British bandmasters would take a course of instruction in what constitutes the American national airs. Band concerts are the rage all over England, Ireland, Scotland and Wales. During the summer season, probably as a compliment to the hordes of Americans who are flinging away gold for their benefit, they present daily what is generally dubbed 'American national airs.'"

"The majority of these bandmasters think 'Dixie' is the national air, because they sagely observe it is the only one which Americans applaud. The 'Star-Spangled Banner' is dismal and lugubrious enough under the best of circumstances, but to hear the Scotch bagpipes have a fling at it is indescribable misery. The man who wrote the 'Columbia' hymn would not know his own work as performed in King Edward's domain, and even the 'Kentucky Home' and other negro ballads get a touch between an Irish jig and a Scotch waltz which robs the American visitor of any pleasure which he might experience in hearing songs from home. It may be that British, Scotch and Irish guests on this side of the water get as much discomfort in hearing 'Annie Laurie.' I hope they do, for it would establish a sort of international musical balance."

"I am not," snapped the man. He didn't look a bit like a horsey or doggy man.

The Child as an Asset.

There is undoubtedly a very grave problem connected with the birth rate. The church in past times furnished a religious motive for large families, and this tended to counteract the natural tendency of the birth rate to decline from economic causes as the period of infancy came to be prolonged in an advancing civilization, says a writer in the Springfield (Mass.) Republican. If the religious motive be destroyed, the economic forces making for fewer children must enjoy freer scope, and as the cost of living rises and the financial burden of rearing and educating children through a long series of years becomes heavier for the average parent to bear the scare over race suicide is likely to be the more pronounced. Making the child, however, once more a pecuniary asset of the parents at a tender age would be suicidal to civilization itself.

STOCK, CROP AND FARM NOTES.

—At the public sale of Jersey cattle by S. C. Carpenter held in the pens of Murphy & Co., several head of cows and heifers were sold by auctioneer Geo. D. Speakes, the cows bringing from $40 to $130 per head and the heifers from $17 to $45 per head.

—The farmers in Franklin and adjoining counties are up in arms over the baleful effects of the present game law and will use every endeavor to have the coming Legislature amend it so as to do away with present conditions.

—Butter and eggs and especially turkeys have been high and the amounts realized on the sale of Christmas turkeys has, in some instances, been a handsome sum.

—Tobacco has been stripped and rushed to the market as rapidly as has been possible, for farmers have been desirous of turning their products of a twelve month into ready cash. The tobacco has been bulked in the barn whenever the proper weather has been experienced stripped and hauled to the market where the highest prices in a score of years have been obtained.

—Ice harvesting has been one of the features of the past week. The ice this year is perfect being from three to five inches in thickness and no indications of snow exist in it. Wheat which has already been sowed has just begun coming up and for the past week has been greatly protected against the extreme cold by the heavy fall of snow during the past few days.

—Christmas this year proved a most bountiful one for the Kentucky Blue Grass farmers. All over Central Kentucky, reports have it that the farmer and his family have spent a most joyful holiday, thanks to good prices.

—Hemp has been spread and is rotting nicely in the prevailing cold, dry weather. Planters postponed the spreading for some weeks the weather being too damp for the successful rotting of the stalk. Hemp spread in damp weather, as is known, will frequently turn out badly as the moisture, in rotting the stalk, will injure the fiber. While small in acreage, the present crop of hemp is excellent in quality, and indications of a long price on the markets are good.

High Price Cattle.

A load of Shorthorn steers, the grand champions at the Chicago International Stock Show, was sold at auction early in December for 15 cents a pound.

Armour & Co. were the purchasers. The grand championship load last year were Angus, and sold for $11 per hundred.

The grand championship steer, King Ellsworth, a magnificent Angus specimen, sold on same day for $18 per hundred to Swift & Co. The grand champion steer last year, Fybie Knight, sold for $26.50. As King Ellsworth weighed 1,730 pounds, his net price was $315. The champion car load of shorthorns averaged 1,190 pounds and cost Armour $2,677.50.

During the sale 52 car loads of steers were sold at an average of $11.45 against $9 for 53 loads last year. The load of two year old Angus steers, which were contenders for the championship honors, sold for $14.50 per hundred. A carload of Angus yearlings, which were also "in the running" for championship honors, sold for $14.95.

Disappears in China.

Friends have received word that Fredrick Faulkner, formerly a newspaper reporter in Covington and well known all over Central Kentucky, has disappeared in China, and it is feared he has been murdered or taken prisoner by some of the fierce Mongol tribes of the interior.

Faulkner went to China two years ago as attaché of the United States diplomatic offices at Peking. Two weeks ago he left his post of duty to take a hunting trip into the interior, and since that time has not been heard from. It is believed by friends that he has wandered from the beaten path and has met with foul play. Faulkner is about thirty years old.

THEATRICAL.

"THE BLUE MOUSE."

—What is said to be the one emphatic hit of the metropolitan season in theatricals is "The Blue Mouse," Clyde Fitch's adaptation from the German, which, with the largest cast ever seen in a farce, comes to the Paris Grand next Tuesday, January 4. The play was intended for an antidote to melancholy, which purposes it is said to serve so well, that the Lyric Theatre, where the Messrs. Shubert are showing the play, is packed nightly. Novelty is the keynote of every Fitch comedy and into "The Blue Mouse" he has injected not only characters you seldom meet yet know are true to life, but many situations that are far away from anything ever before attempted.

"The Blue Mouse" is a really charming dancer who "Salomes" at a New York variety theatre. Yet there is no attempt to make the audience step into her life, as it were, or swallow disagreeable pills of suggestiveness. Like "The Blue Mouse," although she nibbles at coals without being burnt, the play is clean and at no time is the audience asked to solve a problem or even think seriously. It is the purpose of the author to create laughter and he is said to have succeeded in a way that is sure to make his latest play the most phenomenal fare America has ever seen.

The piece ran for over a year in Germany and is still holding the boards there as well as in France. It has also been presented in Austria, Sweden and Denmark and it bids fair to continue at the Lyric in New York the remainder of the present season.

Beatrice Cloyes, who plays "The Blue Mouse," Robert Dempster, Albert Gran, Lily Hall, Sam Reed, Ralph Morgan, John E. Hynes, Effie Warner, Guy D'Ennery, Edward Craven, Howard Morgan, Marie Gerrard, Birdie Luttrell and fifteen others. The cast is said to be the largest ever seen in a farce.

Largest Deficit in History.

The annual report of the United States postal service is issued and shows the largest deficit in history. The report says that the chief source of the shortage arises from the transportation of newspapers and magazines that are carried at a low rate because of their educational value to the public. Also that the postal equipment, facilities and area of the country are being enlarged and improved.

Card of Thanks.

We desire to express our thanks and appreciation for the liberal patronage extended us during the Holiday season and for the year so near a close.

This year has been one of the most prosperous to us during our business career, and we feel that we owe this to the liberality of the citizens of Paris and Bourbon county. It has been our direct aim to please all of our patrons and it is from this effort alone we feel that we have reaped such a reward.

In the future we assure one and all the same courteous treatment of the past, and wishing one and all a happy and prosperous New Year, we remain,

Very respectfully,

A. F. Wheeler & Co.

What is "Whiskey?"

The definition of the word "whisky" was given Sunday when President Taft rendered the final decision on the subject, in connection with the construction of the pure food law, with reference to labelling.

The President held that whisky made of neutral species is whisky when reduced to potable strength.

The President covered other details in his decision and gave directions for the proper brand of various varieties of liquor, holding among other things that whisky made from a mixture of "straight" whisky and "neutral species" may be called a blend.

According to the instructions under this decision "straight whiskies" will hereafter be branded as such, but the brand may be accompanied by the legend "aged in wood," and whisky made from rectified, distilled or neutral species may be branded so as to make the principal ingredient. In addition, if they so desire, manufacturers of straight whisky may also use the word "bourbon," "rye" as the facts may warrant.

The definition of "blends" is not made broad enough to include neutral species, this being made from molasses and reduced to potable strength. This article he says, cannot be labeled as whisky. It is rum.

A New Remedy.

Miss Sophronia P. Breckinridge, of Lexington, daughter of the late Col. W. C. P. Breckinridge, and well known in educational circles as "Dr. S. P. Breckinridge," has delivered a most interesting lecture on the wastes of the world, and offers "standardization" as a remedy.

Terrible Storm.

Grim winter swept into New England Sunday on the wings of a north-east storm with such terrific energy as to cause great damage, suffering and deaths. The gale drove a tidal wave into Massachusetts Bay, which nearly equalled that of the famous storm of 1851. The wet snow prostrated wires, and railroad trains were stalled. Three persons lost their lives in Everett and Chelsea by the sudden rise of the tide. In Boston the tide caused an estimated damage of over $1,000,000. In Everett, Cornelius Harkin and his wife were caught in their beds and overwhelmed by the flood, while an infant child lost its life in Chelsea under similar circumstances. At many places along the coast persons were taken from their homes in boats, hundreds of summer cottages undermined, bulkheads destroyed and persons living some distance from the sea found themselves looking over the open ocean. The prostration of wire service, especially in southeastern New England, was more extensive than for many years.

Joe Williams Kills Bad Negro.

Joe Williams, formerly the efficient constable of the Paris precinct, now Marshall at Millersburg, shot and killed Willis Huff, colored, Saturday afternoon, about 4 o'clock. Huff was intoxicated and got into an altercation with Deputy Marshall Jesse Wilson, who was sworn in on Friday. Marshall Williams appeared upon the scene. Huff made at him with a knife. Williams attempted to knock the knife out of his hands with his billy, warning him he would have to shoot him if he did not desist. With an oath the desperate negro told him to shoot, which Williams proceeded to do three times, one shot piercing his head and two lodging in his body. Huff was a bad character and had been in several difficulties during the day. The coroner's jury exonerated Williams from all blame.

A Pleading Service.

The praise service by the excellent choir at the Presbyterian church Sunday night was highly enjoyed by the large congregation present. It was the general expression of all, that the singing, could not have been excelled by any choir in Central Kentucky. Miss Frances Johnson, the organist, rendered two beautiful organ solos, in a very artistic manner. Rev. Dr. Shive gave very interesting history of the two old hymns that were sung, "The Son of God Goes Forth to War," and "From Greenland's Joy Mountains," both by Bishop Heber. One of the most pleasing and artistic numbers on the program was "The Adoration," a Christmas cantata, by George Nevin. There were seven beautiful solos in the cantata, sung by Mrs. Fanniebell Sutherland, Mrs. Frank Fisher, Mrs. O. L. Davis, Miss Flora Hill, Mr. Clay Sutherland, Mr. C. A. Webster, Dr. Frank Fithian. The choruses by the full choir were simply grand. It was indeed a service long to be remembered by those fortunate enough to be present.

QUICKSAND.

How It Is Formed and Its Grewsome Characteristics.

To most persons the word "quicksand" gives a sensation of horror similar to that produced by the thought of a snake, and many sensational accounts have given to quicksand almost human attributes. No ordinary observer would be able to distinguish dry quicksand from any other sand, and the average person would be unable to restore it to its "quick" properties even if he tried. If water is mixed with the quicksand the mass does not become mobile, and if the water is drained off the sand will be found firmly packed.

Quicksand is comparatively very light, weighing about ninety-four pounds to the cubic foot, while other forms of sand run as high as 171 pounds. Quicksand, when examined under the microscope will be found to have rounded corners, like river sand, as distinguished from "sharp" sand. It is quicksand that is used in hour-glasses and egg glasses, partly because of its fineness and partly because it does not eventually cloud the glass by scratching, as would the sharp sand. It is to its lightness that quicksand owes its deadly qualities, and a demonstration of how it becomes "quick" may be given by placing a quantity in a bucket and adding water by pressure through a hole in the bottom, allowing the water to overflow very slowly when it has worked up through the sand. The upward current will be found to loosen the sand and to raise the surface very slightly, separating and lubricating the particles so that they are easily displaced.

The bucket now contains genuine quicksand. The sand, owing to the support it receives from the water, has its weight, or supporting power, reduced proportionately, weighing in the water but thirty-two and a half pounds as against ninety-four pounds when dry. Bulk for bulk, the mixture is nearly twice the weight of a man, but is too mobile to give support and too thick to swim in. In its natural state, presenting an apparently firm surface, resembling simply damp sand, it is the most deadly man trap conceivable.

Quicksand requires in all cases an upward current which is not quick or strong enough to break through in the form of a spring. Ordinarily water flowing over quicksand will not make it dangerous. It may be formed in tidal rivers and on the shores of tidal seas by the rising tide saturating a porous stratum of ground below high water mark, and when the tide falls a return current is established through the porous (sandy) ground with a sufficient velocity to loosen the sand and make it "quick."

A permanent quicksand is found where a slow current of fresh water finds its way to the surface of the sand bed either in the bottom of a stream or elsewhere. Quicksands that are encountered during the sinking of walls and foundations are due to the influx of water when the work gets below "spring level" or the level of the water in the ground at that particular spot. The sand, being deprived of the lateral support of the water in the excavation, is pushed in from behind by the water currents flowing from all sides.

One of the most peculiar and grewsome characteristics of quicksand is that it will soon engulf any object cast upon its surface, no matter how light that object may be, even a perfectly dry stick.—Harper's Weekly.

Eggs Worth Millions.

Two punched eggs on toast once formed the foundation of the great New York stock market. If the eggs were eaten securities advanced in price; if left untouched, Wall street shivered and quotations crumbled. One morning the eggs proved worth a thousand times their weight in gold, for the news that they had been eaten with relish added 2 per cent to active stocks. Even 1 per cent on the $10,000,000,000 securities listed on the New York exchange would be equivalent to $100,000,000. By such trifles Wall street swayed when seized by hysteria, when hypnotized by a personality, when lost to the sound reason that usually governs its actions.—Bert C. Forbes in Van Norden Magazine.

It Sounded Hopeful.

A young man who was not particularly entertaining was monopolizing the attention of a pretty debutante with a lot of uninteresting conversation.

"Now, my brother," he remarked in the course of a dissertation on his family, "is just the opposite of me in every respect. Do you know my brother?"

"No," the debutante replied demurely, "but I should like to."—Lippincott's.

The Only Way.

"Is there any method that will enable a man to understand a woman?" queried the innocent youth.
"The only way to understand a woman," replied the home grown philosopher, "is not to try. Under these circumstances she will reveal herself sooner or later."—Chicago News.

No Chance of That.

The beggar accepted gratefully a nickel from the professional humorist.
"Thank you, sir," he said, his voice vibrant with deep feeling. "Oh, thank you, sir, and may you live to be as old as your jokes!"—Washington Post.

Of Course.

THE VICIOUS PECCARY

A Fierce Creature Is the South American Wild Boar.

HE IS SMALL, BUT FEARLESS

Will Attack Man or Any Animal In Existence on the Slightest Provocation and Will Fight to the Death—A Battle With a Jaguar.

During one of his journeys into Mexico Edward W. Walton, a mining expert, had a close call from being sliced to shreds by the fierce little South American pig known as peccaries. He told the story of his escape to a Denver Post reporter.

"I wished to secure some plumes from a number of the beautifully plumaged birds," said Mr. Walton. "I went into the jungle and came to a small opening in which there were dry leaves, probably a foot in depth, covering the ground, and hundreds of beautifully colored tropical birds in the air and in the trees. I fired at one of the birds in flight, when it seemed to me the whole area of these dead leaves arose in front of and all around me. Being a stranger, naturally I was much frightened, especially when I saw the animals which raised up the leaves apparently ready for an attack. The older animals opened and closed their mouths, showing their big, sharp tusks, formed much like a dirk knife, and some of them started toward me. Impulsively I commenced firing my gun in the air and turned around, which seemed to stop most of them momentarily, and as I had lots of cartridges I kept up the shooting, and they turned and ran away. I found afterward that I had saved my life by so doing and by not shooting any of the animals.

"These animals proved to be peccaries. They are most ferocious and will attack any animal in existence on the slightest provocation. When I got back to headquarters and told my companions my experience I was informed that had I shot one of the animals and made him squeal the whole bunch would have been on me and would have torn me to pieces quickly. They have been known to kill bears, jaguars, cattle, horses and any number of dogs. Although in the fight scores of their number might be killed, they seem to have no fear when once aroused.

"I was told the peccaries burrow under the dry leaves to protect themselves from mosquitoes and other winged pests of that hot country. My friends had many exciting experiences to tell in regard to these ferocious little animals. One of this party, while traveling with a companion in a wagon, stopped for lunch under some trees and turned their horses out to graze. While at lunch a large bunch of peccaries appeared, and they thought it would be nice to shoot among them and get one or two for meat, so they fired into them, wounding several, which commenced to squeal. Then the whole bunch made an attack. The men climbed quickly into the wagon and kept on shooting so long as the ammunition which they had in their pockets lasted. As they were opening their bags to get out more ammunition the peccaries climbed up the tongue of the wagon and jumped into it, and the men saved themselves only by jumping on to the seat and then on to limbs of the trees, the peccaries taking possession of the wagon and tearing things to pieces. They remained in possession for hours, the men watching them from safety in the trees.

"The peccary, or South American wild boar, is the smallest of his species, averaging about three feet long, nor is the animal possessed of any unusual degree of strength. To make up for the natural individual deficiencies in combat with the more powerful animals of the jungle the peccaries always travel in large herds. When once attacked by a herd of peccaries the outcome is nearly always death to their enemy. The little pigs are armed with short sharp tusks, and no matter how great the slaughter of their own number during the melee the herd stay on the job until the work is finished.

Travelers in tropical and South American countries tell of three encounters between the peccaries and the jaguar, the monster cat which is lord of the forest. The jaguar has a fondness for a dinner of pork, but a whole-some respect for the power of a herd of wild pigs. When he wants to satisfy his cravings for a pork diet he drops from a limb of a tree on to the back of a straggler in the peccary herd. The jaguar slays his victim and then retreats hastily to his tree before the herd can get at him. When the herd grows tired of waiting for him to come down and moves along the jaguar descends and enjoys his meal at leisure. Frederick Selous in his romance of the animal world has an interesting account of a fight between a jaguar and a herd of peccaries. The peccaries led the jaguar treed on the limb of a tree from which the bark had rotted away. He was only a few feet above them and by harassing and jumping at their enemy finally succeeded in bringing the conflict to the ground. After the fight was over there were eleven killed and wounded peccaries, but the jaguar was literally torn to pieces.

WHAT IS A WHITE MAN?

A Puzzling Problem For the Racial Investigator.

The chief of the naturalization bureau at Washington is of the opinion that the "average man in the street"
understands distinctly what a "white" man is. Apparently some persons can master a subject without studying it at all, while others who have looked into it deeply are not so dogmatically certain as the "average man in the street."

For example, the encyclopedias tell us that mankind was divided by Blu-menbach into five races—namely, Caucasian, Mongolian, Ethiopian, American (Indian) and Malay. The words
"Caucasian" and "white" are used synonymously. This classification was first published in 1781 and must have been known to our national legislators when in 1802 they passed the first naturalization law.

The Caucasian race includes Arabs, who are certainly no "whiter" than
the Turks, yet Turks, the official says, cannot be naturalized because they are not "white."

We are also told by the naturalization bureau that the Hindoo is not "white" within the meaning of the statute. But the encyclopedia says that it is a great error to separate the Hindoo from the Caucasian race. The Hindoo, it thinks, is much nearer the "white" race than the Arab.

To puzzle the racial investigator still further, while everything is so clear to the "average man in the street,"
we are told by the encyclopedias that the original Caucasians—that is, the inhabitants of the Caucasus—are no longer regarded as Caucasians. They have been thrown out of the "white" camp and forced to go over to the Mongol.

Nor is the enigma any nearer solution when we are told by the naturalization bureau that Asiatics cannot be naturalized, but that Siberians can,
although Siberians may be anything
from Russians to Mongolians or Mongol-Turco-Tartars.—Boston Globe.

AN ARCTIC TRAGEDY.

The Body That Was Seen Floating In
the icy Water.

On Aug. 30 we arrived at Rudolf Island, the most northern of the Franz Josef group and simply a mass of ice and high glaciers, where we had planned to spend the winter. While cruising near Northbrook Island I saw one day from the "crow's nest" a singular
dark body just awash on the surface of the water. As we came nearer and nearer I was possessed by a rather unusual desire to know what this dark mass was. Putting up my glasses, I gave the order for "dead slow," and we passed the object closely on the starboard side. I saw clearly that it was the body of a man clothed in a great skin coat, with the usual hood, and with mittens on the hands. The face was not discernible, but it dawned on me suddenly that this might be the remains of the Swedish balloonist Andree, who had been lost in the arctic about two years before, or perhaps one of the men who had been lost in the Abuzzi expedition.

I was about to stop the steamship and procure the body when it occurred to me that to take a corpse on board would destroy the good spirit and courage of the members of the polar party, for there is a general superstition among sailors that a ship is doomed when a dead body is on board.
The first officer and myself were the only ones who witnessed this ghastly spectacle, and neither mentioned the fact, fearing that the discovery would cast a shadow over the entire party.
We have both always believed that this was the body of Andree, and I have often regretted that it had not been in my power to give him decent burial.—Captain Edwin Coffin of the Ziegler Polar Expedition in National Magazine.

The Family Tree Grew Backward.
A Kansas City man married, and his mother-in-law came to live with him.
About a year later a friend met him
and asked:

"Has there been any increase in your family since we last met?"
"Well, yes. There's one more of us."
"Well! Glad to hear it. Boy or girl?"

"Neither. It's my wife's mother's mother, who has come to live with us."

The first man was silent a moment;
then he said, "It looks to me, old man,
as if your posterity had got headed in the wrong direction."—Kansas City Times.

The Rhyming Speller.
A correspondent mentions the difficulty experienced by budding authors
in spelling words in which diphthongs
"ei" and "ie" appear. An easy manner to recall the order of precedence of the vowels is contained in an ancient rhyme:

"I" before "e"
Except after "c"
Or when sounded like "a"
In "neighbor" and "weigh."

They Sometimes Are.

thing."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

OCEAN WAVES.

Curious Facts About the Irregularities
of the Tides.

To the ordinary landsman tides along the coast are most puzzling. He has been taught that the tides rise and fall twice in the twenty-four hours
and that this depends in some mysterious way upon the moon. But when it occurs that in his travels he sees a spot along the shore where there is no tide at all he is at a loss to explain the phenomenon.

To be exact, there is only one ocean
in the world where the tides follow
the moon with absolute regularity.
This is the great Antarctic basin, and the reason is that there and there only is to be found a sweep of water entirely uninterrupted by land. The enormous wave raised by the moon's attraction courses round the world
south of Cape Horn and the Cape of Good Hope with absolutely nothing to break it. In the northern hemisphere great masses of land interrupt the tidal waves and, combined with the shallowness of inland seas, cause them to perform antics that seem most strange.

The depth of water has much to do with tidal irregularities. Out in the open ocean, when the tide is abyssmal
—that is, about 5,000 fathoms—the speed of the waves is amazing. Where the depth decreases to five fathoms the tide travels at a comparatively slow rate. In England, for example, which is surrounded by narrow, land broken seas, the result is that the Britons get some of the most terrible and dangerous tidal races and currents.

The most formidable is the whirlpool between the island of Jura and Scarba, on the west coast of Scotland. This is known as the "Caldron of the Spotted Seas." Here is a race running at a speed to be matched only by a mountain torrent. The force of a heavy tidal current pushing up a wide mouthed river causes what is termed a "bore." The most striking example of this tidal feature is seen on the Amazon, a moving wall of water thirty feet high and reaching from bank to bank rushing inland from the ocean.—New York Tribune.

ILLUSTRATORS' WOES.

Errors That Were Pointed Out by Unfeeling Editors.

"Now, what do you think of that?"
asked the youthful illustrator ruefully
as he tossed his comrade a letter. It was from an editor, and its mandate
was stern. It said:

"Dear Sir—Permit me to call your attention to the importance of reading a story before attempting to illustrate
it. I am aware that the modern artist does not observe this rule, but it is imperative in this office. If you will examine the text of the story sent you for illustration you will learn that the army officer mentioned is said to have taken his fishing reel out of his haversack,
and you have made a picture
showing this officer—who, by the way,
is a brigadier general—with a knap-
sack strapped to his back. A knapsack, my dear sir, is not a haversack.
Furthermore, no army officer ever carried a knapsack or ever will carry one. If the general should see your drawing he would be insulted. Will you please acquaint yourself thorowly
with the appearance of a haversack, correct your drawing and return it to this office at the earliest possible date?"

"Just think of having to know all such details!" exclaimed the artist wrathfully.

"That's nothing," his studio comrade responded consolingly. "I made an awful break once. I painted a picture to illustrate a story in which a widow got married, and I depicted the bride in a long white veil. Of course I thought the drawing was a beauty and a wonder, and I was ecstatic over the way I had handled that effect in white. Imagine how crushed I was to have the editor—by the way, she was a woman—sneer witheringly and tell me that no widow ever wore a veil when being remarried. How was I to know that? I have never been a widow."—New York Press.

A King's Umbrella.

The king of the Belgians once left his umbrella in a taxicab when driving to Brussels. This was returned to his majesty a few hours afterward by the proud caddy, who was offered for his honesty by King Leopold the sum of 100 francs. The astute jehu, however, begged a great favor of the king.
Could he have the umbrella instead of the money? The favor was granted, and before many days had passed the caddyman had put up the umbrella for sale, and it was knocked down to some royal enthusiast for 1,100 francs.
When King Leopold heard of this he exclaimed, "Well, I've heard of an umbrella being put up to keep off showers of rain, but this seems to have been put up to bring down showers of gold!"—London Globe.

A Politician's Theory.

body."—Washington Star.

Hubby's Plot.

"I wish I were a heroine, George."
"Why, it is easy for you to become a heroine, dear."
"I'd like to know how?"
"The woman who is not afraid to remain alone while her husband goes to a poker party is a heroine."—Houston Post.

Not Sisters

Now and again you see two women passing down the street who look like sisters.
You are astonished to learn that they are mother and daughter, and you realize that a woman at forty or forty-five ought to be at her finest and fairest. Why isn't it so?
The general health of woman is so intimately associated with the local health of the essentially feminine organs that there can be no red cheeks and round form where there is female weakness.

Women who have suffered from this trouble have found prompt relief and cure in the use of Dr.

Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It gives vigor and vitality to the organs of womanhood. It clears the complexion, brightens the eyes and reddens the cheeks.

No alcohol, or habit-forming drugs is contained in "Favorite Prescription." Any sick woman may consult Dr. Pierce by letter, free. Every letter is held as sacredly confidential, and answered in a plain envelope. Address:

Better Still.

"The apartments are quite satisfactory," said the would-be-tenant. "I suppose it isn't necessary for me to give references, as I always pay as I go."
